Messrs. Frank Ferlin and F. H. Van Eaton have been appointed treasury examiners by the County Commissioners.

The County Commissioners have just completed their annual session with the County Treasurer and County Clerk.

Mr. Cliff Thompson having tendered his resignation as trustee of Eureka township, the county commissioners have appointed Mr. C. A. Kingman to succeed him.

Here's some of Vennor's bother: "Warm weather on the 18th, 19th and 20th. Wet every other day for the rest of the month. November—Not much fine weather again until the 4th and 5th, when a fine open term is probable."

We desire to call attention to the great auction sale of the Morehead property which occurs at the Morehead farm, 3 miles east of Assaria, on the 24th inst. Farmers and others will not fail in buying stock at very low figures.

Mr. Geo. F. Sauer started for Chicago Monday evening, being summoned there by a telegram announcing the death of his invalid brother, who is quite well known here—he having made several trips to this country for the benefit of his health.

New York parties have made a proposition to build a road from McPherson to Wichita, via Burdett and Sedgewick, a distance of fifty-five miles. The road would make our branch to McPherson of some account to Salina. We hope the project will succeed.

It has been a continuous drizzle (with just a little sickly sunshine) since our last publication. There has also been considerable foggy, raw weather, which has made extra rare a necessity. The rain has done much good for the growing wheat.

Mr. W. H. Iams, has sold the Brookville Transcript to Mr. W. L. Evans, late of Hiawatha. Mr. Iams has not yet decided what he will do—whether he will return East or go to Denver. He has made a good paper of the Transcript and evinced good editorial ability.

Our Salina City friends are sanguine of soon reaching a large vein of coal. Experts who have examined their indication pronounce them excellent. The property is situated in Salina county, east of the Salina river. We hope they will reach coal, and lots of it. Salina county will take pleasure in burning it and taxing the valuable property.

A few nights since some fellow undertook to rob the hen roost of Mr. H. H. Iams, living in Mr. Iams' house, in the western part of the city, and was bitten by the watch-dog. Mr. H. Iams was called to the door by the racket, and seeing the man in the act of shooting the dog, warned him to desist. Returning from the interior of the house with his gun, he found the dog dead and the man gone. The animal was a valued and trusted one. The miscreant was a member of the "white trash."

Warrants have been issued by the city authorities for the arrest of Frank Seaton, Gus Shultz, John Ryan, R. F. Eggleston, John Grant and Wm. Huether—all of them being charged with selling liquor in violation of the law. The trial of Frank Seaton was called up before Police Judge Bondi, yesterday, but the case was put over until this morning. Banks and Cunningham appear for the prosecution, Messrs. Cravens and Lovitt for Seaton and Shultz, and Garver & Bond for Eggleston & Huether. No attorneys are announced in the other cases.

Abilene carried the water works proposition by a handsome majority, the other day. A town with a population at least a third less than Salina is thus to be favored with a water system which will find its property against the ravages of fire and protect means for adorning its yards and making its homes and parks more attractive. Can an enterprising city like Salina afford to stand idly by and look upon a neighboring town take a step in advance? Can she afford to endanger her property for still another winter by having no ample fire apparatus? Citizens think of these things!

The financial statement of the Secretary of the Salina County Agricultural, Mechanical and Horticultural Association is published in another column. The statement shows that the recent fair was not only a success as far as the attendance and interest taken in it by the farmers generally was concerned, but was also a financial success. After paying every cent of indebtedness, including the premiums, the expenses of the permanent buildings, clearing the grounds, the necessary daily expenses, etc., etc., there is still left in the treasury the handsome balance of $233.31. It is demonstrated by this showing that the fair was conducted on business principles, and that those who are fully competent to run such institutions. It is usually a "sin" with agricultural associations to have on hand any "balance," unless it be a "balance due" from the association to the exhibitors, etc. The success of the fair is the strongest kind of a recommendation for the re-election of the present directors for the coming year. A handsome endorsement of the Directors by the members of the Association—in recognition of their splendid services—could not be made.

One A. S. Johnson, from Mississippi, arrived in town last week, claiming that he was very desirous of buying out some grocery store in Salina. It is stated that he talked with several of our merchants about buying. He finally made a proposition to Mr. R. T. Watson and arrangements for sale and transfer were concluded. The store was closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, for taking inventory, and during those days all hands were busy at the work. The store was to be opened for business under the new management this Thursday morning. Instead of the new proprietor making his appearance, there came a letter from Johnson, in which he begged clear out of the trade, giving no reasonable excuse for his action. The letter was written on a Pacific House letter head. He is supposed to have left on this morning's eastern train. Mr. Watson is very naturally, somewhat disappointed, as well as very much disgusted with such a play. But he will continue in business as before, and his store will be in the future, as in the past, one of the best equipped grocery establishments in the city. If this fellow Johnson is a good specimen of "Southern honor," we don't want any of it in this country. He should be given a wide berth by all Kansans, at least.

The Union Spy. At no time in the history of Salina has there been so much satisfaction given our citizens by any entertainment as that of the "Union Spy," which was presented Monday, Tuesday, and yesterday evenings.

A stranger who sat near us on Tuesday night asked if it was "all home talent." Being answered in the affirmative he said, "I never saw a better amateur performance in my life." A drummer remarked, "I have seen the Union Spy played many a time before, but never so well as by your troupe."

These are words of commendation from "outsiders," and but confirm the belief of our home people that our home talent have "struck it rich" in this play. Monday evening the audience was fair, notwithstanding the prejudice which exists against the "first evening." On Tuesday and last evening the hall was crowded. As you watch the play you are carried back in memory, and forgetfulness of surroundings, to the stirring times when all this land was in commotion over the firing at Sumner—when drums were beating, flags were waving, and the long quiet and happy peace of the family circle was being torn by the enlistment of fathers, sons and brothers.

From the happy home the gallant boys go promptly to the recruiting office, the volunteers soon become well-trained soldiers, and in their handsome uniforms are drawn up in "hollow square" to receive the colors from the charming young lady who presents them, prelude with a happy speech. Then there's the drill of the awkward squad by the brave Pussies Jones—the squad which is so remarkable in its gymnastic exercises upon the discharge of a gun. The fearful farewell, the measured tread of the regiment as it takes its departure for southland, the bivouac, the dream of home, the taps, the reveille—all these having a thrilling effect upon the old soldier. Life in camp is effectively presented. Tom, the faithful Tom, is on hand. He could not be happy unless he could be doing some good in his bungling way for the "United States." To while away the time, the boys would like a little dancing and singing from Tom. Tom does not claim to be an expert, but has an "orphan" who is, and he comes to the front with a good old "home down" and performs in admirable style. Albert Morton, who is his little nephew, fails him as he promises the gallant general that he will assume the questionable character of a spy, with all its responsibilities and dangers. The dear old "crack-brain" as he is called along after a sack of meal has made the rebels believe that he is the ineffective father he assumes to be, but O, unlucky fate, that he cannot escape the keen glance of the revengeful Sergeant. Tom, too, pays the penalty of his rashness, and his poor bones are terribly twisted in that blanket performance. But the faithful darkey can do his friend Albert a good turn and escapes to announce to the Yankees that their curand is to be shot as a spy. The stalwart cry of "Up boys and at them," brings up a host of boys in blue—the signal of Rodrick Dhu to Clam Alpine, and the rebels are turned upon the executioners. Shiloh's bloody field is represented in miniature, and the beautiful tableaux of the "Death of the Color Bear," closes that act. The horrors of night on a field of battle are effectively portrayed. The heart rending cry for water, from the wounded, the recognition of brothers on the field, the elegant tableau of the "March of the Soldiers' graves"—occur in succession. Now the terrors of Andersonville are faithfully portrayed. The half-starved, gaunt relics of noble men appeal to the sympathies of the auditors. Noble little Willie, loved and honored by all—cast in the heroic mold—his tragic death affected all deeply, as did the sorrow of the bereaved brothers. The rescue is thrilling. The villainous, degenerate demon of the foiled Orr and his tragic death is true to life: the tableaux, "Guridan Angela"—perfect. The closing act commences with a joyous home scene, and only one event to cause a shadow over the happiness, and that is Willie's vacant chair. The gallant regiment returns, the burners come marching along with their chickens, and hams and vegetables. And along comes Uncle Tom mounted on an actual representative of the mule species. And Tom proceeds to deliver his lecture on the Fifteenth Amendment. The "cussedness" of the mule Tuesday evening in refusing to budge an inch, in accordance with mule nature, was not laid down in the bills, but was as happy a part of the programme as any other feature, and brought hoarse shouts from a very much tickled audience. The tableaux of the "March of the Soldiers' graves," was a most beautiful close for this grand play. And this was the "Union Spy" with its pathos and mirth—presented in a most happy manner. It is but justice to say that all who took part in the play did well; but more deserving of special mention are all the ladies, T. L. Bond, Col. Temple, F. M. Hamilton, Frank Hamilton, C. T. Hilton, Joe Mosker, James Bell, S. M. Wilson, Col. Temple has proved himself a most thorough, successful manager, and deserves the hearty welcome and support of other towns who he shall decide to produce this play.

Last Saturday Mr. B. H. Ober was summoned by Miss H. H. by telephone stating that his wife had been thrown from a buggy and seriously injured. Upon his arrival there he found her more dangerously injured than was first supposed. When she was thrown from the buggy she had her baby in her arms and in endeavoring to shield her child, received the full force of her fall upon her own head and shoulders. Her shoulder and collar bone were broken, and her skull slightly fractured at the base. She was in an unconscious state for twenty-four hours, and her chances for recovery were very slight. Her sister Emma, who was with her, also sustained severe injuries, but the children escaped unhurt.—Galea (JL) News.

We understand that some of the supporters of Charles Holmquist, for sheriff, have been to leading Democrats and promised if the Democratic party will support Holmquist this fall the Swedes will hereafter cast their votes for the Democratic party. These "vigorous promises" are like that character who went to the top of a mountain and pronounced away the whole earth, provided certain conditions which he mentioned were complied with. The "promises" are in no way representative men of the Swedish population, and can fulfill no good purpose. Holmquist is not the choice of the Swedes for sheriff. Their choice is Rodrick, the regular Republican nominee. The Swedes support the regular Republican ticket.
